

Racheal McGonigal.

Be Careful What You Wish For.

For those who are mega wealthy, finding a relationship can be hard. 'Does she love me for my money?' 'Does he just want a show pony?' So when two people who are equally wealthy and successful find each other, fear disappears and true romance can blossom.

With a combined wealth that can buy seemingly anything, the imagination can run wild. But can they buy anything they want?

From a Miami mansion via a Gulfstream jet to New Zealand and Australian vineyards to a Super Yacht off Mykonos, James and Amanda's romance flowers. With an undercurrent of bdsm, Racheal draws on her experiences of being one of those few able to know and have felt both sides. As a man and as a woman.

Romantic love making to lustful raw sex, lesbian and voyeur, the mile high club and swingers club, to phone sex and self gratification when apart, this is a story to excite fantasies and questions. What is it like for the other gender/sex? Is a Dom/sub relationship stronger than a marriage? Where will part 2 travel?

The first 20 to leave a review on Amazon.com and tell Racheal will receive a free copy of part 2.

Let your imagination begin and enjoy.
